Coodardie Sires

At Coodardie we believe in functional cattle that perform in the paddock year in, year out, under tough Northern Territory conditions. We believe in doing this in an environmentally, economically and ethically sound manner which improves our country and produces animals that pay and yield well, have healthy, tender and tasty meat and are a pleasure to work.

Our cattle are continually being assessed both visually and physically for performance, confirmation, temperament and fertility. (Classic Livestock Management Services)

Coodardie Brahmans are genetically quiet. Stress-free stock handling and management ensures that they remain this way. Cattle are run in multi-sire, multi-age group mobs under Holistic Planned Grazing.

Coodardie Brahman Stud was formed by Mike & Rory O'Brien in north Queensland in 1976. Old Australian zebu brahmans of Cherokee or Cherokee derived (Tyagarah, Balara, Mill Iron, and Wandarri studs) are the basis of all Coodardie Breeding. (Brahman article)
